Musical Definition of the week:

Anti-phonol: Referring to the prohibition of cell phones in the concert hall.

Reflections

What a wonderful Hawaii meeting last Tuesday. Mrs. Alderman and I were both pleased with the turn-out and response. Our goal was to alleviate any concerns that parents had about the trip and answer any questions. If you missed the meeting and have any concerns please feel free to email me. The handout that was distributed is available online in the Hawaii section. Aloha!!

Our second home game showed great improvement. Our marching was tighter and the music more solid. Anvil of Love still needs work with timing and tempos, but overall I felt that for it sounded good for only a week of practice. Too bad the football team lost, but they had tons of heart against a heavily favored Burroughs team. Remember to come early to next weeks football game, the Field show will be performed BEFORE the game.

UCLA Day was a blast! Our Students were extremely well behaved and received numerous compliments form the UCLA Band Staff on how talented they were. The Trombones, Saxophones, and Trumpets all received special compliments. Over 30 bands were present as we performed a halftime show which covered the entire field and involved over 2,000 high school musicians. It was a great day (it's always a good day when UCLA wins!) I would like to specially thank the parent chaperones who provided a wonderful, low cost lunch to all the students. For less than the price of a Frozen Lemonade inside the Rose Bowl ($4.00) we were able to provide the students with two hot dogs, chips, soda, cookies, carrots and grapes. We actually had other people coming to our band asking if they could “buy” lunch from us. Next year we might bring extra food and make some money!

The preliminary numbers for the Discount Designer Fundraiser sale are in and it was a huge success. We sold over $6,000 worth of merchandise and raised about $1,200 for the instrumental music department. I would like to thank everyone who promoted the event and showed up to purchase wonderful clothing at a discounted price. The sale was so successful, we are thinking of doing it again second semester.
